JOINT MOTION FOR ORDER
APPROVING INDIVIDUAL SETTLEMENT

Plaintiff Wanda Basnight (“Plaintiff”) and Defendant Dolgencorp, Inc. (“Defendant” or “Dollar General”) (collectively referred to herein as “Parties”) file this Joint Motion for Order Approving Individual Settlement, and would show the Court as follows:

I.
INTRODUCTION

In this Fair Labor Standards Act (“FLSA”) action, the Plaintiff and Defendant jointly request that the Court enter a stipulated order approving the individual settlements reached between the Parties in resolution of a bona fide dispute regarding Plaintiff’s entitlement to damages under the FLSA. The Parties have carefully and exhaustively negotiated an individual settlement in this action. They have agreed to resolve the disputed factual and legal issues on terms set forth in the individual settlement agreement, which are described below (the “Agreement”).

The Parties now seek approval of the individual settlement. Although the Fourth Circuit has not set forth specific guidelines for approval of an FLSA settlement, the Eleventh Circuit has, as explained in Lynn’s Food Stores, Inc. v. United States, 679 F.2d 1350 (11th Cir. 1982). In the “context of suits brought directly by employees against their employer under section 216(b) to recover back wages for FLSA violations,” the Parties must present any proposed settlement to the district court, which “may enter a stipulated judgment after scrutinizing the settlement for fairness.” Id. at 1353. See also Boone v. City of Suffolk, Va., 79 F. Supp.2d 603, 605 (E.D. Va. 1999) (FLSA overtime settlement must be overseen by the Department of Labor or approved for fairness and reasonableness by a district court).

The Parties request that this Court consider this individual settlement under the procedures and standards set forth in Lynn’s Food Stores, 679 F.2d at 1350. The Court will find, after scrutinizing the settlement, that the agreement is fair and should be approved. The settlement agreement reflects reasonable compromises of issues actually in dispute, the settlement was reached in an adversarial context in which the Plaintiff was represented by competent and experienced counsel, and the totality of the proposed settlement is fair and reasonable.

II.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Plaintiff filed this lawsuit in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Alabama, Western Division on or around August 8, 2006, alleging that Defendant violated the FLSA. Defendant filed its Original Answer on or around September 5, 2006. This case was transferred to this jurisdiction on or around March 30, 2009. This Plaintiff has now reached an agreed settlement to the claims in this individual lawsuit with Defendant.

Plaintiff claims that she worked for the Defendant and was misclassified as an exempt employee. Plaintiff alleged she regularly worked more than 40 hours in a workweek. As a result, she contends that she was denied overtime owed to her for hours worked in excess of 40 in any workweek. Defendant denies that Plaintiff was misclassified. Defendant continues to deny any wrongdoing whatsoever and does not admit to any violation of law, statute, or regulation.

III. THE COURT SHOULD APPROVE THE AGREEMENT

This Court should approve this Agreement because the settlement is the product of robustly contested litigation, Plaintiff is represented by competent and experienced counsel, and the settlement agreement reflects a reasonable compromise over disputed issues. The settlement provisions also are fair and reasonable.

An FLSA claim, except in two circumstances, cannot be waived or settled. Brooklyn Sav. Bank v. O'Neil, 324 U.S. 697, 706 (1945). The exceptions are (1) that the Secretary of Labor can supervise the payment of back wages, or (2) that the employer and employee present the proposed settlement to the district court for approval. 29 U.S.C. § 216(c); Lynn's Food Stores, Inc. v. United States, 679 F.2d 1350, 1354 (11th Cir. 1982). Both Plaintiff and Defendant request this Court to approve the Parties' individual settlement agreement.

A district court, when reviewing a proposed settlement of an FLSA claim must "scrutiniz[e] the settlement for fairness" and decide whether the proposed settlement is a "fair and reasonable resolution of a bona fide dispute over FLSA provisions." Id. at 1353, 1355. Lynn's Food Stores essentially established four factors for a district court to examine to determine whether to approve a FLSA Settlement:

1. Was the settlement achieved in an adversarial context?
2. Was the Plaintiff represented by attorneys who can protect their rights?
3. Does the settlement reflect a reasonable compromise over issues that are actually in dispute?
4. Is the settlement fair?

Id. at 1353-54.

The Agreed Stipulation, attached as Exhibit 1 hereto, reveals that the settlement was negotiated at arm's length by experienced counsel who protected the rights of the Parties. The settlement reflects a reasonable compromise regarding bona fide disputes between the Parties regarding the questions of liability and the amount of alleged damages under the FLSA. Furthermore, the Parties have agreed in the Agreed Stipulation that the settlement is fair, just, and adequate to settle the claims of Plaintiff.

Here, the settlement is fair and reasonable. Plaintiff may get nothing if this case was to proceed through trial. Even if Plaintiff was to prevail at trial on the issue of liability, a process likely to consume several more months, her damages might not exceed the amount to which she has agreed to settle at this stage. Finally, the settlement is the product of arms-length bargaining conducted by experienced legal counsel. The Court should, in any event, take into account the risks inherent in litigation. “The fact that a proposed settlement may only amount to a fraction of the potential recovery does not indicate that the settlement is not fair and reasonable,” after taking into account the risks and costs of litigation. Quintanilla v. A&R Demolition Inc., No. 04-cv-1965, 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 37449 (S.D. Tex. May 7, 2008) (citing City of Detroit v. Grinnell Corp., 495 F.2d 448, 455 (2d Cir. 1974)).

The endorsement of the settlement by counsel for both Parties is a “factor that weighs in favor of approval.” Quintanilla, 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS at *15. In reviewing the opinions of counsel, “a court should bear in mind that counsel for each side possess[es] the unique ability to assess the potential risks and rewards of litigation. Id. at *14 (citing San Antonio Hispanic Police Officers’ Org., Inc. v. City of San Antonio, 188 F.R.D. 433, 461 (W.D. Tex. 1999)). In this case, Plaintiff’s attorneys are fully aware of the factual contentions of their client and are in the best position to opine as to whether this settlement produces fair results after consideration of risks.

In a series of cases involving Dollar General Store Managers in another jurisdiction, summary judgment was granted as to seven Plaintiffs, only to be subsequently vacated on appeal and then later denied. See Allen v. Dolgencorp, Inc., 513 F. Supp. 2d 1215 (N.D. Ala. 2007) rev'd and vacated by 2008 U.S. App. LEXIS 11506 (11th Cir. Ala. May 23, 2008). Accordingly, none of the Parties could reasonably have any level of certainty as to the ultimate probability of success.

IV.
ADDITIONAL FACTORS TO CONSIDER IN ASSESSING
REASONABLENESS OF SETTLEMENT

Defendant asserts that its potential exposure in Plaintiff's individual claims is minimal, if any. Defendant's position is based, among other things, on the fact that other federal courts have ruled that Dollar General Store Managers are exempt managerial employees whose primary duty is management, six of these cases being decided in 2010. See Bledsoe v. Dolgencorp, Inc. (C/A No. 3:99-3761-17 (D.S.C. October 4, 2000)); King v. Dolgencorp (No. 3:09-cv-00146 (M.D. Pa. May 6, 2010)); Johnson v. DG Retail (No. 1:08-cv-123, 2010 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 47416 (D. Utah May 13, 2010)); Noble v. Dolgencorp (No. 5:09-cv-00049 (S.D. Miss. May 11, 2010)); Hartman v. Dolgencorp of Texas, Inc. (No. 6:09-cv-000009 (N.D. Tex. June 24, 2010)); Mayne-Harrison v. Dolgencorp, Inc., et al. (No. 1:09-cv-42 (N.D. W. Va. September 17, 2010)); and Roberts v. Dolgencorp, Inc. (No. 2:09-cv-0005 (M.D. Tenn. November 18, 2010)). Attached as Exhibits 2-8 are true and correct copies of these opinions for the Court's consideration in relation to this Motion.

The Parties have entered a proposed individual confidential settlement agreement to avoid the necessity, expense, inconvenience and uncertainty of litigation. The Parties, with the Court's approval, would like to resolve and settle all claims and disputes between them arising out of, or in any way related to, Plaintiff's claims under the Fair Labor Standards Act.

Following the Parties' extensive negotiations, Plaintiff reached a confidential settlement agreement with Defendant. While not intending to waive the confidential nature of the settlement agreement, the Parties are willing to submit the exact amount of the settlement, or the settlement agreement itself, for in camera inspection to enable the Court to assess the reasonableness of the settlement if requested to do so.

V.
CONCLUSION

The Parties believe that the settlement reached was a fair and reasonable compromise of the respective positions of the Parties. The Parties therefore respectfully request the Court approve the individual settlement and enter the Proposed Order. Entry of the Proposed Order will “secure the just, speedy and inexpensive determination” of this action in accordance with FED. R. CIV. P. 1.

Respectfully submitted this the 22nd day of November, 2010.
